

Practitioner T

Client-Participant Role in the Practitioner Training

Pr

Participants.

- Practitioners-in-Training and Client-Participants speak with each other prior to the workshop for the purpose of establishing rapport and a therapeutic practitioners need to talk with the parent and the children or babies are there.

- Keep professional relationships with all group participants for as long as it is

